

How to make your school bully-free

A No Bully keynote workshop

Bullying and exclusion are perennial challenges in every school, causing students untold suffering, marginalizing diverse youth and exposing schools to the risk of litigation. Educators devote hours to helping children with their peer difficulties, but little seems to change, and punishment typically makes the situation worse.

At this No Bully workshop participants learn the innovative building blocks that visionary schools use to become bully-free under which they

- Mobilize teachers and parents behind a shared vision of how everyone at your school relates.
- Integrate Solution Team® and Solution Coach®, the new best practices to stop student bullying.
- Implement social and emotional learning for all.
- Create a long-term transformation plan that supports their social vision and ensures the success of their anti-bullying campaign.

No Bully
Anti-Bullying Programs for Schools

No Bully is a respected San Francisco-based 501(c)(3) non-profit that partners with schools to help them become bully-free learning communities. The rewards that schools typically experience are significant reductions in student bullying, increased inclusiveness and respect, and 11-17% improvements in student academic performance.

No Bully has brought this keynote workshop to hundreds of K-12 school leaders, teachers and counselors wanting inspiration and guidance in how to start the process of school culture change. One to three hours, depending on time.

"I have never attended a better training than the No Bully How to Make School Bully-Free workshop during my twenty years in education. The information was not only insightful, but with it came practical strategies for dealing with this very serious issue".

Mark DeLuca, Dean of Students, Salesian High School
